Comments from the CEO

The New Zealand Industry continues to report estimates that will result in their largest crop in their history.

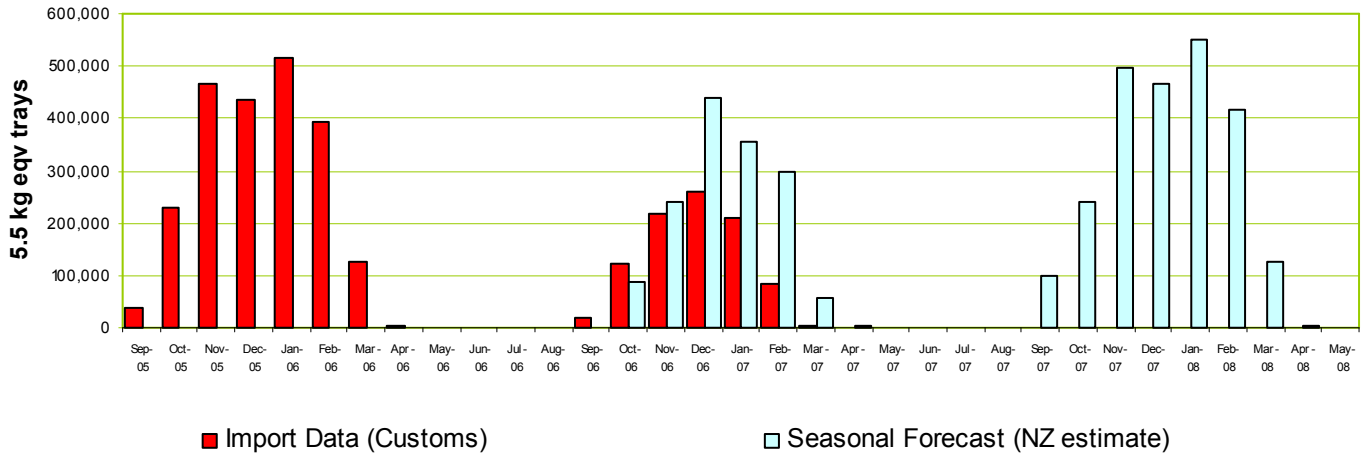

Around 2 to 2.5 million trays from New Zealand are expected in the Australian market over the October 2007 to March 2008 period.

This will create pressure on the wholesale market and challenge the New Zealand and Australian marketers on both sides of the Tasman.

New Zealand has also directed more fruit into the US and Japanese markets due to the opportunity that has been a result of the frost events in Chile and the US during this year.
